11. - 12. September 2010

Centrum Athanor, Lochem, Netherlands

Andouri - Keltic Sweatlodge

from SHIN

with Christiane & Michael

This ritual originates in the stream of the Keltic culture, that flows through time & space. In this time of great change our highly honoured teacher Shin reintroduces this ritual to bring purification, clarification & liberation.

It reconnects the participants with the ancient line of ancestors, who send their strength & wisdom through to the coming generations. It is a way to find real friendship with the elements & the beings of nature. It transforms the old & heavy burdens in dignity & simplicity into new fresh life.

Be Heartfully Invited!

The Door of Nature: All true traditions see nature as home & school where we receive everything we need to live, grow & develop. This is why we will spend a lot of time outdoors to be directly in touch with the teaching of everything that appears & disappears.

In our work we are looking to find the natural way again. A still, clear mind like a mountain lake, a freely-flowing breath like an ocean breeze, a wide open heart like a midsummer sky, & a well balanced body that is free to move like a dancing squirrel.

These are natural attributes of being human that we can rediscover together, by learning in the living teaching of nature. A journey of blessings awaits....

Invitation to Ennoble: In the andourí-keltic spirit we heartfully invite you into a living community of free individualities in NOW (present time space). In a warm & friendly atmosphere, a true appreciation of each other & the beings of nature is easily possible. The European ancestors, the Kelts, lived in a dignified way with each other & as one with nature. „Keltoi“ means: noble hearted & we put this into action in our work, by each individual in their way, searching for the best in their heart to be given into the community. Life reflects how successfully we live what we have learnt. Our actions propel our path forward. „Andourí“ means tested by life & we will put ourselves to the test of giving the best in our work with each other.
